

About Weekday

Funding: We are backed by Y Combinator and General Catalyst; along with angels like Kunal Shah

What is Weekday?

At Weekday, we are building the next frontier in hiring. We are transforming the way companies are recruiting with the help of superior sourcing technologies.

We are looking for Founder's Office interns to work closely with the CEO and COO on strategic projects.

Requirements

- Very high ownership: Since you would be working the founders directly, don't expect to be managed or given exact tasks. Expect problems to be given to you and you would be expected to come up with solutions yourself
- You should just "get things done"
- Hard work: Expect long work hours
- Either final year of college or minimal college workload -- you should have enough hours in the day free to work on problems given
- Be the owner of your problem statement. When you start working on a problem, you would be expected to approach it as if it's your own little startup
- You should have a high CGPA in your college (or any other proof-of-work of hard work)
- You are expected to be a barrel (as opposed to an ammunition) - refer Keith Rabois talk on the same

Benefits

- Your direct point of contact will be either CEO or COO, so you will have plenty of opportunities to learn about how a startup grows from the ground up and impact what processes are created to help the company scale
- Even as an intern you would be owning initiatives end-to-end
- We expect the ideal fit hire to move on to become integral part of our full-time team so ample chances to convert to a full-time role